

SLC-FSDO FAA Safety Team presents:

Drone Safety Day - South-Eastern Idaho

Are you interested in “drones”? Do you have questions about the regulations relating to their use?

Do you need help to start flying, or want to test your piloting skills on the National Institute of Standards and Technology’s Basic Proficiency for Remote Pilots course?

All “drones” are regulated by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), and their misuse, or interference with a drone operation, can result in severe penalties, including criminal prosecution. Don’t be a “Careless, Clueless, or Criminal” operator; learn to Fly R.I.G.H.T.

Join local representatives of the Idaho Public Safety UAS Council, the FAA Safety Team, and the Red Baron R/C Modelers for DRONE SAFETY DAY, and learn more about the regulations involved in operating drones, the benefits this innovative technology can offer, and how you can Fly R.I.G.H.T.

Saturday, April 29th, 10:00 am – 12:00 pm at the Red Baron R/C Modelers facility

Directions: The Red Baron R/C Modelers flying facility is located within the North Bingham County Park, between Exit #108 on Interstate-15 and Shelley.

The flying facility is in the southern portion of the park next to the historical park.
